DATE : SEPTEMBER 12, 2025

In line with the Department of Education's (DepEd) commitment to continuous improvement of basic education programs through evidence-based data from field implementers, the Learning Systems Strand, through the Bureau of Curriculum Development (BCD) and Bureau of Learning Delivery (BLD), is spearheading a research initiative to assess the implementation of the National Schools Press Conference (NSPC) and the National Festival of Talents (NFOT) in Philippine basic education.

The NSPC and NFOT are DepEd's flagship co-curricular programs held annually that aim to showcase the journalistic competence, multiple intelligences, and creative talents and skills of learners from different regions, promoting holistic development anchored on the K to 12 Basic Education Curriculum and DepEd's Five-Point Reform Agenda. Given their scope and significance as culminating national-level activities, comprehensive evidence-based data is vital for their efficient, effective, and sustainable implementation.

As part of the aforesaid research initiative, an online survey shall be administered to gather insights on the NSPC and NFOT implementation, focusing on level of satisfaction, funding support, influence on teaching practices and learning behaviors, and sustainability. The survey results will guide the planning of the 2026 NSPC and NFOT and inform the continuous improvements of these programs.
